Providing world-class financial security

In our country, financial security is the prime concern of the citizens, irrespective of class differences but unfortunately, we know little about this aspect of our life and we are not much educated about it. There was a time when spending on personal or home security or even securing your favourite car used to be a matter of luxury but with the changing times this is no more considered a luxury but has become an unavoidable necessity these days. We tend to ignore it thinking that the expensive private security is going to pinch the common man's pocket hard.

“We want to introduce schemes to help people become secure financially. We have been working diligently in the field for providing impeccable security to both your house and family. The company is dedicating its services to upgrade the financial security measures of the individuals and provide a chillaxing environment to their families.”

The Finomis was established as a service with adequate excellence and experience in financial security and financial solutions, willing to spread its wings far and wide and give international experience to its clients. It is a public limited company that has excelled in the craft of financial security and solutions.

“Finomis is going to be a revolution which makes a stress free financially equipped society.”

hard to make sure that each person gets to relax with family security. Abhilash Pankajakshan is the Chief adviser and director of Finomis wealth management service Pvt Ltd. He is a high-profile financial security strategist with ample years of experience in the financial and banking sectors. He has proved his excellence in providing the best financial solutions for people from all walks of life.

The head of the business strategy team in Kochi has currently invested skills in a divine job of creating and upgrading financial security facilities for the common persons who, otherwise, could not afford expensive financial planning. The company has currently marked its presence in the industry providing the best financial solutions. It is presently growing at a rapid rate, with 100% satisfied customers. Through its dedicated approach, the company is trying hard to create safe financial plans with its innovative strategies.

“Customer satisfaction is one of the biggest awards that we clinched so far. We have numerous clients. We are still getting a friendly response from our customers. For a financial adviser, it is the biggest achievement.”

Family

“Undoubtedly, for a businessman, his family’s support is an essential thing. My wife is the backbone of this company and my life. I am blessed with an extremely supportive family and friends.”

This is high time to embrace a personal security culture. We need to understand that having financial planning in our life is much better than having to rush and worry at the last moment. It’s our right and our responsibility to provide a secure environment to our family. Finomis asserts that it firmly believes in financial security is the basic ground for any citizen and they are here to make it ready, available for every citizen.

of 100 onwards. ‘How? Where? When?’ are important factors to consider while investing remarks Abhilash. The establishment works with wrongly informed customers in the market transforming them into fully informed one’s, providing apt financial solutions.

Each customer has different objectives, for some, it may be children’s education for others their marriage and so on. “Pre-Planning extremely important” exclaims Abhilash. Starting early is the key point. Last-minute needs, lead’s people into taking massive loans from banks with extremely high-interest rates. The company provides retail (Small scale) & HNI (large scale) plans for different needs. Finomis provides N number of investment options for all, varying from a daily wage’s person and also for an established businessman.

“There is no shortcut for victory. Behind every victory, there is a story of hard work. Victory is not something that can be achieved easily. Trustworthiness is the only secret behind my success.”

Starting savings early is the key to successful financial planning claims Abhilash. No matter what your income may be, it’s important to save 10% of it every month. “10% is ideal if it is saved regularly.”

Socially committed individual for a businessma

“Man is a social animal. He cannot detach himself from the society in which he belongs. What it implies is simple: each person is responsible to his society.”

Thoughts about the present media scenario

“According to me, the media can help a person grow at the same time tarnish one’s life and personality. It has got the power of the ‘fourth estate’ in our country’s system. But nowadays media platforms including many major television channels have stooped down that people are afraid of them. Journalism must be a truthful, one-sided and responsible service to the public.”

Lockdown period and employees

“I had several employees working in various departments in my company. But for the past six months, I have been organising meetings for my employees where their issues will be addressed. Financial aid was provided throughout the lockdown period. The major strength of our company is our employees. It is their dedication and hard work which lead to the growth of all my ventures. I have tried my best to reach out to everybody and extend my help.”
